

1. T
2. male
3. 57 years old
4. Baku, Azerbaijan
5. Azerbaijan
6. Social Democrats Party
7. TV, internet
8. Not so frequently
9. Azerbaijani and Russian speaking

Summary

Part I

Political stability and security. It is impossible to separate these from each other. Even if there is not political stability in a country, freedom or fundamental rights might exist. But, first one is security. For instance, Azerbaijan has political stability and security.

There are municipalities, local governance in Azerbaijan. Cabinet of ministers shouldn't have involved in cleaning of the town. Municipalities should engage in this work.

In general, women should have the rights of abortion, but with permission of doctor. Woman cannot decide it by herself.

Yes. Azerbaijan should receive refugees from abroad. But, it should be implemented with control, not like in Europe.

There are about 105 ethnic minorities in Azerbaijan. That's why, it seems impossible. I don't think they have to have this right.

Cultural and ethnic diversity is positive thing, but, if there is intact public policy in the county. But, we shouldn't experience the same practice like in Syria. May be, ethnic minorities should be protected, may be, no.

In eastern philosophy, first comes state, family and individual. But, in western philosophy, it is opposite. In other words, human rights issue is the primary one in western society. But, in our country the situation is different from western society.

State should definitely control the economy.

Part II

I am not politician. I am political expert. I also do translation of books in my free times. I see myself as a parent of my children, citizen of Azerbaijan. But, first of all, my identity is my citizenship.

From the fundamental approach, religion is used for better goals. Happenings in Syria is not religion.

Turkish, Slavic are not nations. They are ethnos. Turkish people in different countries are ethnos, but not nation.

Interview 7.T | 10/24/2016 | Duration: 35 mins 01 seconds.

Physical borders are very important. Borders are integral part of nation states. If we want to eliminate these borders, what we propose, then.

I don't understand it...culture, education should be open. (interviewer doesn't answer proper answer to this question)

Restoration of historical borders is not good thing.

Part III

One of the ways to control the world is to create conflicts and manage it. This is controlling mechanism.

I don't blame separate countries for failure of resolution of conflict. I argue that there are secret powers that controls world from behind of the curtain. Maybe, we don't know them. We might know their names, but don't know whether they are part of it or not.

Nagorno-Karabakh conflict should be solved with the principles of territorial integrity of Azerbaijan. No conflict can be solved in military methods. When the interests meet each other, this conflict will be solved.

"Kirve"s of majority of people in Azerbaijan were are Armenians. Human being can get adapted to any situation in spite of killings.

None of these options is biggest enemy of Azerbaijan. Only, secret powers that controls world from behind of the curtain.

Nagorno-Karabakh belongs to Azerbaijan and Azerbaijani people.

Only Armenians and Azerbaijanis can solve the Nagorno-Karabakh conflict. As far as, third parties are involved in this process, this conflict couldn't find its resolution. Negotiation should return to local level.

No, I don't see any precedent conflict for the resolution of the Nagorno-Karabakh conflict. May be, we can compare it with Palestine and Israel conflict or Kashmir conflict.