Summary

Part I

Four of these concepts are interconnected with each other in modern world. If any of these misses, then chaos or authoritarianism might happen. That's why, I prefer rule of law, which includes all of these concepts.

If the law says that the government should do it, then YES. If it is responsibility of the municipalities, then they have to engage in these activities.

Human is free either in his/her private or sexual life. Nobody's right cannot be limited. People should be free on deciding whether they want to have kids or not; or how many kids they want. That's why, this right should be recognized for every citizen. Of course, time limitation of pregnancy – (5 months) has to be considered as well. Because, after this period, it turns to be human.

Azerbaijan is member of UN. That's why, as responsibility, Azerbaijan should take refugees in case of any humanitarian catastrophe.

It depends on the numbers of the ethnic minorities. If there are only 50000 members of ethnic minorities. In this case, how they can form their staff members. If there are bigger group of ethnic minorities, then, those people should have this right. We should also think how much studying in their own native language will provide benefit for ethnic minorities, and whether it will help them to integrate into the society or not. In any case, none of the ethnic group cannot be stopped to learn their language, history or culture.

Unfortunately, clash of civilization happens in the world, nowadays. If the rule of law works in a country, then ethnic and cultural diversity cannot cause any problem., if not, then it will cause clashes, conflicts because of interests of big countries. That's why, we shouldn't evaluate it as a threat or enrichment for a society. If ethnic minorities live in a country, it is just reality. Nobody can remove them from their lands.

Everything is for human-being. If anybody wants to support the society, it means that s/he support the government, which also serve for well-being of human and its citizen. If the government doesn't serve for its citizens, or the government is authoritarian, then it is important to help society and people, first.

Part II

I am not mono person. I am father, uncle, friend, party leader, ex-member of parliamentary for different people. Because, people in front of me are different.

I choose 9th option – human. I am human-being. But, for example, we are separated with a border from people in Dagestan. We much more love people in Azerbaijan than other side of the border. If you visit Europe and see one Estonian and one Georgian, then you will much more love Georgian. You much more love your brother than your neighbor. I mean, we all are human beings and there are several things that pushes us to categorize everything.

Religion cannot be used for anything. Religion is belief, which helps you to communicate with God. Imams, popes are member of organization (he means church, mosque), which I am not part of any organization for my dignity. Religion is organization in the world, and all organizations work for some goals in the future.

Our motherland has been built by our ancestors that we live and love. There are nation, traditions that we love.

Physical borders are important so far. If drug-trafficking, illegal migration exists or if humans cannot live without border in modern world, then the borders are important for the countries. Of course, Europe has created platform where they live without borders. But, it doesn't mean that if Europe did it, we also should do it in East.

Having internet and social networks are positive phenomenon. People learn from each other and choose its life-style.

Historical border issue is on agenda in different period of the history. But, the world is governed with international law, not with history. We should live in a territory that recognized by international law. But, nobody should violate the territorial integrity of Azerbaijan.

Part III

Nagorno-Karabakh conflict has not been solved because of clash of interests. I don't mean interests of Armenia and Azerbaijan; I mean Russia's interests. Russia is interested to create conflict in post-soviet countries to keep its power alive, always. If it would depend on Azerbaijan and Armenia, the Nagorno-Karabakh conflict wouldn't happen ever. Russia influences Azerbaijan, Armenia and other countries with the help of such conflicts in the world. Such an imperialist country, Russia get benefits from these conflicts by selling weapons and other means. Even if we say, we don't want Nagorno-Karabakh, or Armenia says, we accept that we did wrong and return the territories back; this conflict will not be solved. To eliminate the influence of Russia, Union of South Caucasus has to be created together with Azerbaijan, Armenia and Georgia. Intellectuals of these three countries should understand that this region or citizens of each country will not have better life if Russia doesn't leave this region. I am a person of several imitators to create such kind of union with public ground. We should focus on points that connect us, not divide. We should discuss all of them. Otherwise, Russia will not let any country to change the status-quo. All of these negotiations are narrative tales that serves to keep cease-fire regime and do not let open war start.

I only see the resolution of the Nagorno-Karabakh in the context of Union of South Caucasus. If these countries want to guarantee their independence, democracy, well-being, they have to act together. Liberalization of the government cannot help to solve this conflict. First, people should be liberal. Otherwise, if the government tries to govern the country in liberalism, then people will not understand that governance system. Liberalism should have in the minds, opinions of people.

It will be very easy to live together after resolution of the Nagorno-Karabakh conflict, as our people do in Russia. We have killed...they have killed. Look at the history of Europe. They experienced two world wars. But, they live peacefully. Belinski says, everything starts from welfare. If you build welfare of people, then everything will be better. People didn't get educated to have better in Europe. Leadership of Europe created good welfare of people, first.

The biggest enemy of Azerbaijan is ourselves. We don't want to make our country better. Believe me, if we return Nagorno-Karabakh back, we will have bigger problem after 5 years. Because, we have other bigger problems than this one.

From law and statehood perspective, Nagorno-Karabakh belongs to Azerbaijan. But, from the law of living there, it belongs to Azerbaijanis and Armenians. They have also lived there from old history. But, they have to accept juristic of Azerbaijan.

No. None of the conflicts can be solved by applying any precedent conflict. From the law perspective, it might be possible that what kind of rights are recognized. But, resolution models of every conflicts are unique.
