

1. 31
2. Female
3. 43 years old
4. Khojavand (Nagorna Karabagh), Azerbaijan
5. Baku, Azerbaijan
6. Bachelor degree from an Azerbaijani university.
7. No membership of political party
8. News provider: web sites and TV
9. Not visiting other countries regularly.
10. Azerbaijani & Russian speaking

Summary

Part I

Freedom and protection of fundamental rights are more important points. Freedom is especially essential and protection of fundamental rights is something which ensure it.

I think government should initiate about cleaning of towns and then other organs such as companies from private and public section can be included.

Yes, woman should have right of abortion. In some cases, such as health issue cases, it can be prevented in some levels.

If Azerbaijan is not able to provide our own refuges (IDP's), it would be difficult for us to provide immigrants.

Yes, ethnic minorities should have education in their own languages. This land is also theirs, and they have rights. I think so.

Having different ethnicities in the country is richness. It can be a danger politically, but it depends on government.

I think people and society is more important because economics and government is based on people and society.

Part II

I have poly identity.

I identify myself as teacher, human, friend, daughter, sister, mother etc. And I also consider myself as world citizen as well as Azerbaijani citizen.

It depends. For me, religion is something good, but we often see it to be used for bad purposes. However, religion can make world a better place.

From my perspective, nation means who is from your blood, from your soul. It also defines his religion, identity, ideology etc.

Yes, borders should exist between countries. During soviet times, there were utopic communism ideas and it was suggesting to demolish borders. But in today's reality, it is hard to image the world without borders. For example, I wish we could have such a border between Armenia and Azerbaijan that cannot be destroyed by any power.

Existence of internet and social network makes borders meaningless somehow. Now, internet connects everybody despite of their lands, their religion and their nationality which I consider as a positive development.

Restoration of historical borders can lead to both war and bloodshed, also to the restoration of justice for people who suffered from this.

Part III

Nagorna Karabagh conflict has not been resolved, not because of our nation's weakness. If we would decide for this, it was clear what could happen: Victory or Death. It is hard to answer. In fact, I do not know the answer. Is it politics? Is it betrayal? When this conflict started, I was so sure that it will be solved soon. Yes, it was horrible, but I have not lost my hope. I do not know, how it goes, but I believe that justice will be recovered. I am just waiting as everybody else.

I am not sure about who is the culprit in this conflict. We (Azerbaijanis) used to think that it is Armenians who organized all these but nowadays I understand that it is not about Armenians, it is more complicated than that. Because, comparing Azerbaijan and Armenia is like comparing an elephant and an ant; you cannot compare them. It is more political.

If foreign powers stay away from this conflict, our (Azerbaijani) government can solve it. I mean, we are stronger than them (Armenians) in whole matters. Our government is stronger, our army is stronger, our politics is stronger. We can resolve it. But I want to solve it with peaceful way.

If this conflict can be resolved, I imagine life in high standards. But, unfortunately, people who will return to those lands will not be the same people. I mean, not the same psychotically. These people have suffered a lot. However, I love my mother town. I love Fizuli more than my life. If I must sacrifice my life for Fizuli, I would not hesitate for this. These feelings come from my patriotism, it comes from my family; they were like this, and I am also like this. I cannot explain it properly; it is just something in my blood. No, I cannot imagine living side by side with Armenians. I am not sure. May be after some centuries we can live together again. Our nation is so friendly that, we forget everything easily, we forgive easily. I am afraid that we will forget all our wounds.

Our main enemy is Russia. Russia used Armenia against us.

Nagorna Karabagh belongs to Azerbaijan.

Only our government and our nation together can resolve this conflict.

I cannot think of this properly. I do not know any model for this conflict. For me, this conflict is artificial. Just it is deepened.